NAMED AGAIN TO COUNTY PLANNING GROUP

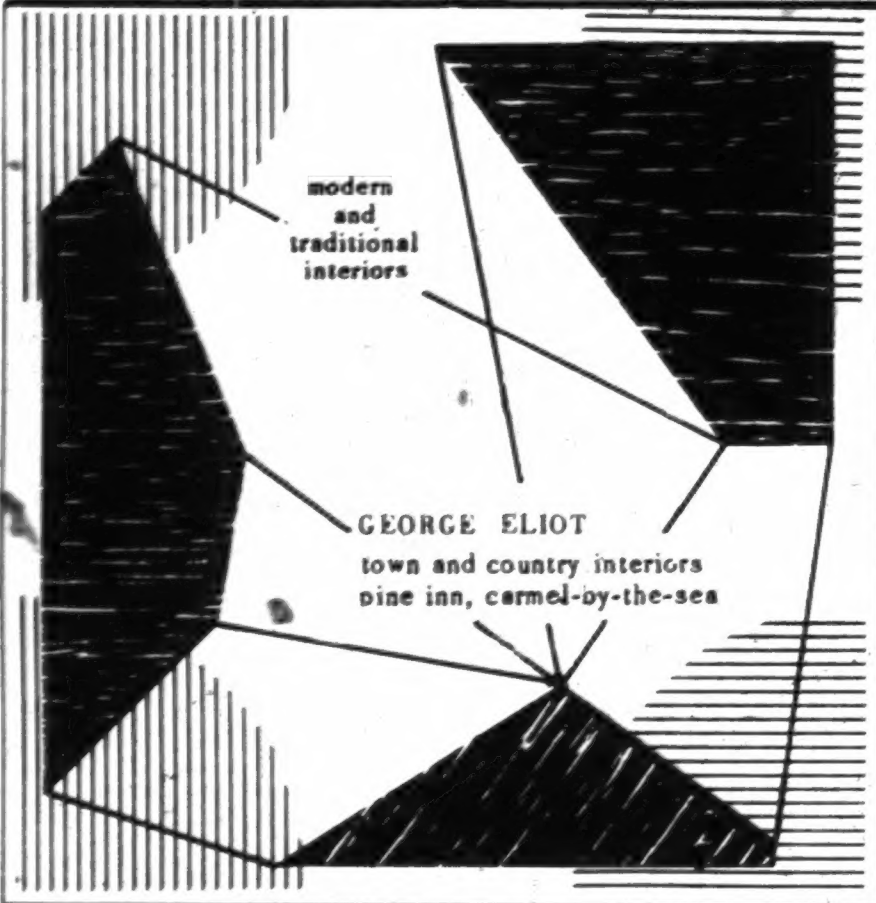

Carmel Martin, of Monterey, and C. S. Olmsted, of Pacific Grove, were reappointed as members of the Monterey County Planning Commission on Monday by the Board of Supervisors.

Mr. Martin, an attorney, has lived on the Monterey Peninsula since 1908 and has been chairman of the Planning Commission many years. Mr. Olmsted is vice president of Del Monte Properties Co. Both men are members of the planning commissions in their respective cities.

PORTABLE LUAU

Mr. Francis H. J. Brown, of Honolulu, was host Sunday noon at a real Hawaiian Luau with everything flown in from the Islands.

PG Approves New Station

Voting six to one, the Pacific Grove City Council last week upheld its Planning Commission, approved establishment of a (Union) service station on Lighthouse between 18th and 19th. Since first proposed in December, the project generated a storm of protest. A number of citizens signed a petition opposing the station.

In making its decision, the City Council was guided by the opinion of most - but not all - of Pacific Grove's businessmen. The property in question is in the commercial district. Service stations are permitted, although a use permit is needed. Why discriminate?

The council could find no answer to that question.

Almost angrily, Councilman Newton S. Foster pointed out that two or three of the most vocal objectors to the station were operators of existing service stations.

HARRIETT ADAMS WED

Harriett Adams, owner of the Hour Glass Shop, Carmel, was married Friday evening at the Church of the Wayfarer parsonage to Alan D. Shearer, former San Joaquin Valley paint contractor.

Mrs. Fremont Rider, of Carmel, and Walter Bailey, of Spokane, stood up with the bride and groom. The bride wore a navy blue taffeta suit and a gray velvet petal hat, set off by a corsage of orchids. The matron of honor wore a gold satin blouse and beige suit with a yellow rose corsage.

Following the ceremony, which was conducted by the Rev. K. Fillmore Gray, a quiet reception was held at the Carmel home of Mr. and Mrs. Shearer.

Those interested in the work of Guide Dogs For The Blind are urged to listen to the Dr. Crane program on KCBS (740 KC) next week from 5:15 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. These five days the program will be devoted to the work of this worthwhile organization.

EDGAR A. TODD

Friends of Edgar A. Todd will be saddened to learn of his death two weeks ago in Richmond, Indiana, following an illness of several years. He was the father of Mrs. Harold P. Brown, of Carmel. Mrs. Brown was in Richmond at the time of her father's death.

The SPECTRE

by Carl Andsand.

I was laid up last week with the galloping galumphs, which strike hard at people who go out and stand around on a soggy golf course all day. Since I only get a little space for the now far-in-the-past Crosby Tournament, let me say that Joan Fontaine was luscious, Joseph Cotton was well dressed, Ben Hogan has a beautiful swing and Johnny Weissmuller is loud, but li' able.

Big yak on the 18th hole at Cypress Point Friday was caused by Der Bingle himself - not mentioning his modernized Tyrolean attire. He banged his drive to the right of the fairway and it ended up behind a tree. So he chipped it out to the middle in about the same spot where the remainder of the foursome had hit their drives. His approach shot to the green could not be seen by him or his gallery, but a mighty roar came from the crowd around the green. It sounded like he was either close or actually in the cup. Bing handed his iron to his caddy and said in an aside to his gallery of about 80 people, "Don't anyone tell them about me chipping out of the woods." (As it turned out, Bing's ball was four inches from the cup.)

While we're on the subject of film-land's famous ones, what must have been the biggest news of the week to Carmelites was Red Skelton's revelation (to a syndicated columnist) that he doesn't drink or attend night clubs. We all like Red whether he drinks or not, but on his visit to Carmel last Summer I would say that wasn't sugar water we saw him sipping now and then in local bistros. However, it is possible that Red went on the wagon since his stay on the peninsula. And who cares, anyway...

For increasing the peninsula population, congratulations to the following papas and mamas, all of whom welcomed new babies in the past few days: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis Tilden, Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. James Thomason and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crank, of Pacific Grove.

All Saints' Church in Carmel was willed 20 shares of Union Oil stock from the estate of the late Mrs. Florence Ten Winkel...

A very charming lady we know, who is a member of the Carmel Woman's Club, tells us about an interesting experience she had some time ago in Salinas. It seems her automobile broke down just outside the county seat, so she hid herself to a telephone and called the American Automobile Association. The girl who answered her call said: "How drunk are you?", which was just enough out of line for our lady to snap back with: "What do you mean, 'drunk,'? You must be drunk yourself. I've been a member of this organization too long to take any insults like that."

"Well, we only help people who are drunk," the girl replied.

"Is this the three A's," asked our lady friend.

"No. The two A's. Alcoholics Anonymous," said the girl.

The payoff: The Carmel lady describes herself as a "rabid prohibitionist" and she is a member of the WCTU. She is not a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, but said she prefers to remain anonymous as far as her little story is concerned.

CARMEL ART ASS'N. TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Members of the Carmel Art Association will hold their annual meeting Saturday at 3 p.m. in the association galleries on Dolores Street, Carmel. Election of officers for the ensuing year will be held.

Several applications have been received from persons who wish to take the position of curator of the galleries, but a successor to Mrs. Nellie Montague, who resigned recently, will not be chosen until the new board of directors has been elected.

CITIES RECEIVE BILL FOR WATER RATE FIGHT

Al Coons, city manager of Pacific Grove, last week told the city administration the cost of fighting the California Water and Telephone Company request for an adjustment in water rates amounted to $766.45.

Coons revealed that Pacific Grove and Carmel would pay an equal share, amounting to $97.86 each. The cities are sending the money to the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce; that body will pay the engineer who acted as expert for the various municipalities.

A CULVERT - becomes a Brook becomes a Nuisance

For many years now, Rod Tomasson, a Monterey auto court operator, has spent most of the rainy season attending city council meetings. It is his dream that the muddy culvert that springs to life as a brook periodically may some day be controlled.

This year, Tomasson may at long last get his wish. He brought the council a petition signed by 48 property owners, who want something done about it.

The small stream meanders around Monterey, skulking under streets. It's used as a rubbish dump by some. Criminals have fled from police through parts of it, never to be found. School children sneak down there to smoke between Walter Colton classes, says Tomasson.

Mentioned in Steinbeck's "Cannery Row," the brook has long been a landmark of Monterey. Now, it has become a nuisance. The City Council promised to study the whole problem and, perhaps, find a solution next week.

By ALICE DENHOFF

NO explanation or apologies are necessary for this bunch of left-over ideas and recipes!

First, a really fine soup that owes its flavor to turkey bones. Break the bones of the stripped, left-over critter. Then place in a large soup kettle with 2 quarts cold water, one raw, sliced carrot, 1/4 tsp. celery salt, 1/4 tsp. onion salt, tsp. dried parsley flakes, 1/4 tsp. poultry seasoning, a small bay leaf, and, if desired, 2 peppercorns. Bring to boil and simmer covered, for 2 hours. Strain. Makes about 1 1/2 quarts. Rice or noodles may be added before serving, if desired.

If you can salvage 3 c. chopped or ground cooked turkey, you have the main ingredient for a nice dish, a Turkey Roll, enough for 6 servings. Prepare one recipe baking powder biscuit, and cut biscuit dough in half, rolling each piece into oblong shape 1/4 inch thick. Blend the turkey, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/8 tsp. pepper, 1/2 tsp. onion salt, 1/4 tsp. each powdered sage and thyme, and 3 tbsp. taken from a can of condensed mushroom soup. Spread half of the turkey mixture on one of the pieces of biscuit dough. Moisten edges with water and roll up like jelly roll. Press ends together to seal, and place, seam side down, in greased baking pan. Prepare second roll. Brush rolls with melted butter. Bake at 425 F. 15 to 20 min. Blend remainder of soup and 1/4 tsp. powdered marjoram. Heat. Place rolls on platter and pour mushroom sauce over them. Sprinkle with paprika to garnish.

Turkey Pie

For a tasty turkey pie arrange alternate layers of sliced or diced cooked turkey in greased baking pan. Heat gravy and pour over top. Season warm mashed potatoes with celery and onion salt. Spoon on top of casserole. Brush with melted butter. Bake at 350 F. about 20 min. or until nicely browned and mixture is heated through.

For an elegant pie with turkey with a biscuit crust, remove all meat from bones and dice. Cut up stuffing. Combine all with gravy. Heat well, stirring so that pieces of stuffing become broken up. Turn into greased baking dish. Top with baking powder biscuits seasoned with celery and onion salt. Bake at 425 F. 20 to 25 min. Any left-over vegetables such as peas, carrots, etc., may be added to the turkey mixture.

EDITORIAL

When an issue of such public importance as the proposed Carmel school bond election comes along, it seems reasonable to expect more than a little pro and con discussion on the subject. After all, a million dollars is a lot of money.

Various organizations have requested proponents of the bond issue to speak at their regular meetings in order to inform the members what is at stake in the election, which is only a month away on Feb. 28. It is surprising, however, that there has been so little steam generated by man-on-the-street. At the rate the bond election is being ignored, a promise of a light vote appears in the offing.

The next Carmel Town Meeting, Feb. 16 (See story on next page), will be a debate between persons who favor the bond issue and those who do not. The SPECTATOR urges taxpayers to attend, as it seems the local forum will be the only occasion for the general public to express itself - one way or another.

The League of Women Voters had slated a similar meeting, with a pro and con discussion arranged, then it was decided not to hold it because the organization is peninsula-wide and not just a Carmel group. This reason for cancelling the meeting hardly seems important. The Carmel Unified School District is of sufficient interest to persons who live in other sections of the peninsula that many wish to send their children to Carmel schools. If certain members of the League of Women Voters had not wanted to listen to a debate about the bond election, they need not have attended the meeting.

The Town Meeting discussion is an excellent idea, but we should have more of the same. If service clubs around Carmel wish to do a service for the people of their community, why don't they arrange similar debates? Then perhaps, everyone will have the issues clearly in mind, whether they are for or against the million dollar program.

The only assurance we have of doing the right thing is a heavy vote at the polls, Feb. 28.

CIO Chiefs Absent From Gompers Anniversary Dinner | Lewis Also Among Missing At Strictly AFL Gathering

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—The division in the "House of Labor" was never more clearly illustrated than at the recent AFL memorial dinner on the 100th anniversary of the birth of the late Samuel Gompers.

No CIO officials, many of whom cut their labor teeth in the Federation's ranks years ago, were present to join in the tribute to the first president of the AFL. More significant, neither was John L. Lewis.

The occasion was strictly an AFL show and none of the other union leaders were considered in sufficiently good standing to allow their attendance. Labor observers especially noted Lewis' absence. The United Mine Workers president was as close to Gompers as any one in the labor movement.

Yet Lewis, currently out of the AFL and feuding with its official hierarchy, was missing from the dinner tendered to his onetime benefactor and counselor.

Probably the main reason for this is that 1950 is an election year. Neither side will alienate large sections of the west by voting against big flood control, reclamation and power projects. There will be a tendency to go slow in slashing foreign aid because it would mean reducing American farmers' markets.

This is the old story. It will not be changed until public sentiment against deficit financing reaches such a stage as to outweigh the group pressures that force through huge spending programs.

● RENT CONTROLS—President Truman and his congressional leaders have determined on a course of action to get rent controls continued beyond the June 30 expiration date.

The chief executive has decided to postpone action until the final days of this session of Congress—then push it through. He reportedly believes that this will be a sure-fire way to get acceptance for at least one more year.

● DIPLOMATIC PROBE—Look for a congressional investigation of the State department in connection with charges that United States policy toward China has been influenced by a "left-wing group."

The department has been under increasing fire from GOP members of Congress and some of the Republican legislators have made it clear that they will push for a full airing of the charges.

Names likely to pop up at any future hearings are those of W. Walton Butterworth, John S. Service and John Carter Vincent—department officials who have been criticized by GOP congressmen.

● SOUR GRAPES?—Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is trying to lay the ghost that his opposition to the Brannan Plan stems from his personal disappointment over not becoming secretary of Agriculture.

According to numerous reports, Kline had been slated for the post if Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had been elected president. The subject came up again at a recent news conference. He remarked that he was a Republican who had voted for Al Smith in 1928 and Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1940, and added that there was nothing personal in his reported row over the Brannan Plan.

He said he had visited the Dewey camp only once to discuss farm problems and the cabinet post was not mentioned. He wound up by saying that he did "absolutely nothing" for Dewey and someone added, "Neither did anybody else." Kline joined heartily in the laughter.

Carmelites to Discuss School Bond Election

Representatives of the Carmel School Board and the Citizens' Bond Election Committee will present to the public their reasons for asking a million dollar bond issue for increased Carmel school facilities at the next Carmel Town Meeting, the evening of Thursday, Feb. 16, in the Sunset School auditorium. While the school board had not been approached officially by the Town Meeting program committee, it was understood this week that proponents of the issue wish for a chance to state their case to other Carmel residents.

Longtime Carmelite Fred Bechdolt, moderator of the Town Meeting, will turn over his gavel Feb. 16 to his assistant, Bert Heron, who will conduct the meeting while Mr. Bechdolt leads discussion from the floor. Mr. Bechdolt has indicated that he is against the bond issue "as it now stands," and that he will represent others who feel the same way.

PAMPHLET

What the bond election committee will have to say at any public discussion has already been stated clearly in an attractive little pamphlet sent out to Carmel residents last week. The pamphlet set forth some of the history of the growth of the Carmel Unified School District, the present and future need of increased educational facilities, and how the issue would be financed.

Briefly, the bond election committee, wanted the Carmel public to know:

1. That the money would be spent on a new primary plant, the Carmel River School, in the Mission Tract; to double the capacity and add an office and cafeteria at the Carmel Woods School, and to add four classrooms, music department, auditorium and shop extension at Carmel High School.

2. That money from the last bond issue did not take care of these facilities because construction costs between 1946 and 1949 increased more than 30 percent.

3. That the peninsula has grown 16 times as fast as the rest of the United States in the past 50 years and the best possible prediction indicates that school enrollment will increase from about 880, currently, to slightly more than 1,100 in 1954. (The outcome: double sessions or overloaded classrooms in the elementary system, with the increasing elementary enrollment soon to flow into the high school).

4. That the high school cafeteria is too small to be used as an auditorium and the music department is now located in the cafeteria storerooms. The gymnasium is unsuitable for use as an auditorium, the pamphlet states.

5. That the construction of neighborhood elementary schools has been recommended by leading educational authorities as the best planning, because it keeps the children close to home.

6. That the cost of the bond issue for tax purposes at $4,000 would be only three cents a day.

7. That Carmel now has the lowest tax rate of any city in the county.

8. That Carmel is too wealthy to qualify for any State or Federal building aid. "This year we receive $87,795 State money for OPERATING costs, however," the pamphlet points out.

9. That those who may vote on the issue are any registered voters with legal residence in the Carmel Unified School District. (All of Carmel and Pebble Beach, from Carmel River to Seal Rocks, east to Highway 1 beside Carmel Woods at San Luis Road, East of Highway 1 and up the Carmel Valley Road 1 1/2 miles).

FALLING BRANCH HALTS POWER

A falling branch tore loose some wires from a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. pole Monday at Ocean and Carpenter, Carmel, and left them burning on the ground. A short power failure resulted in the eastern section of Carmel, cutting off the police broadcast system for a time.

CARMEL LEGION PLANS to MODERNIZE HOME

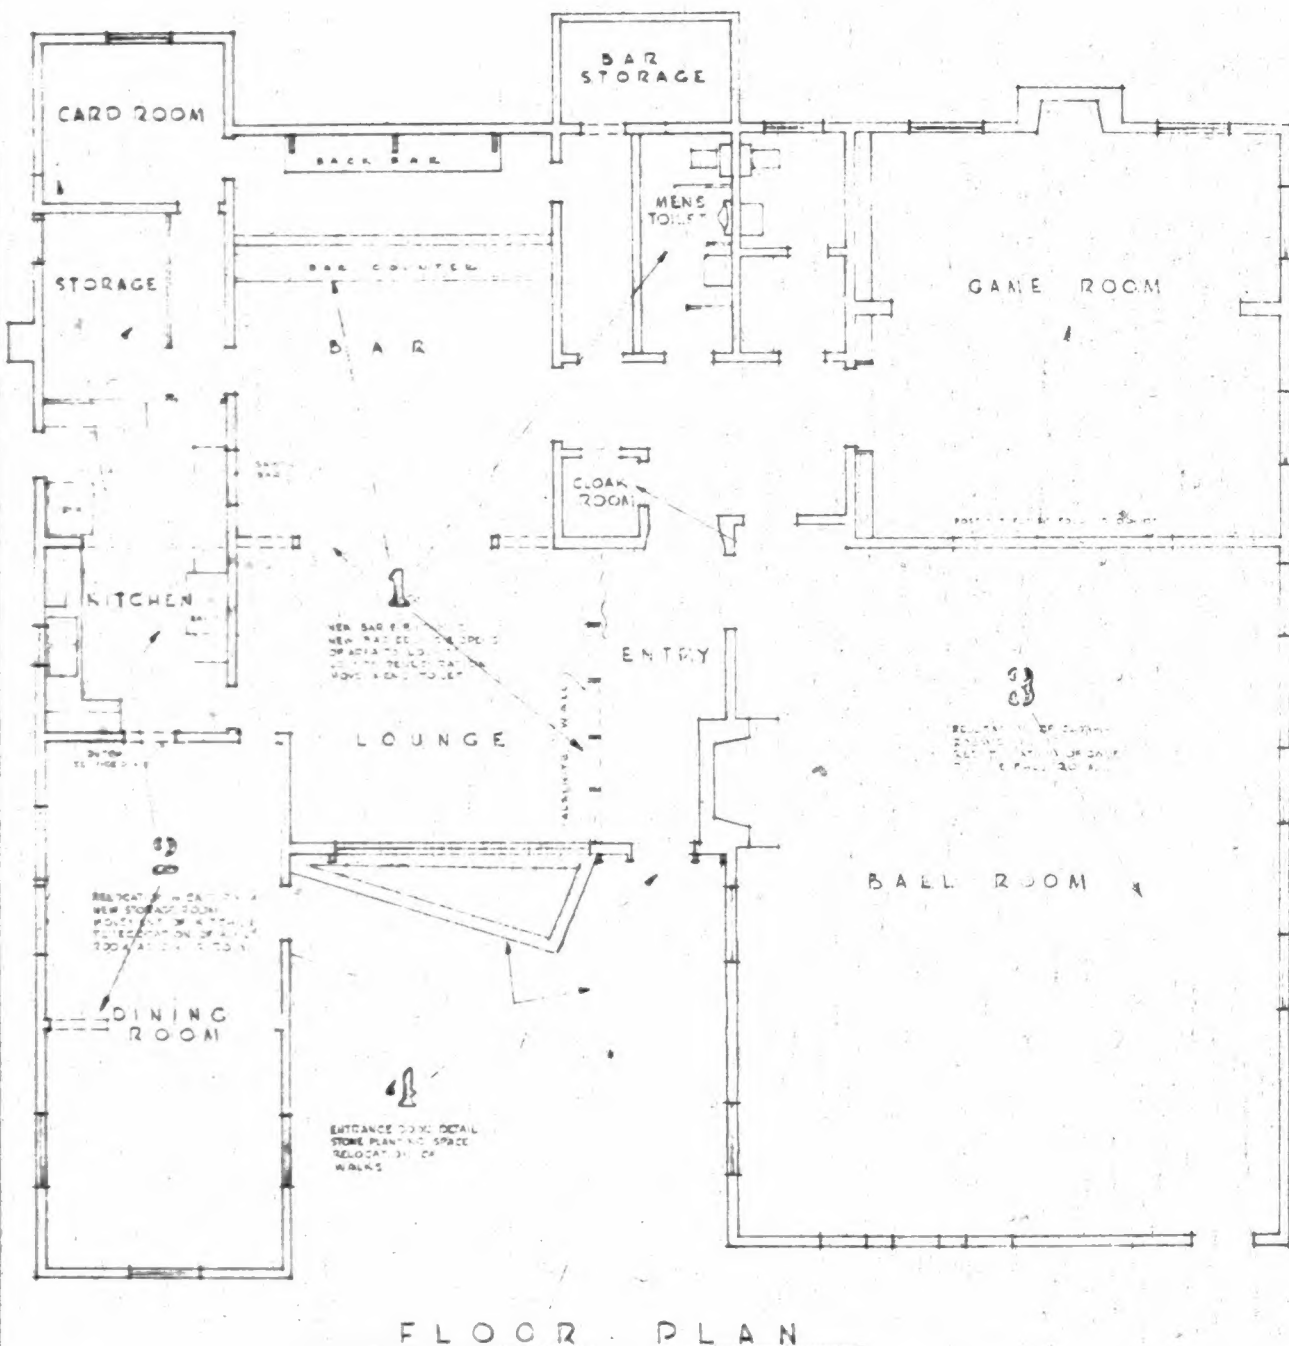

Plans for redecoration of the Carmel Legion Hall on Dolores Street were announced this week by James Kelsey, post commander. The hall will be modernized in a predominant color scheme of green, chartreuse and red, and several rooms will be shifted for better utilization of space.

The post has engaged the services of Architect Thomas S. Elston, Jr. (See floor plan on this page) and Verna Danlevy, interior designer.

Col. Joseph J. Johnston, chairman of the finance committee said he hopes the project will cost less than $5,000, and that his committee, comprising Capt. L. F. Bosshardt, Gordon Campbell, Robert Little and Mrs. William G. White, expects many of the 300 post members to lend a hand in the work thereby cutting down on the costs. Col. Johnston said the necessary funds should be raised "within 60 days."

Chairman of the planning committee is Al Fry, whose group includes Capt. Bosshardt and Mrs. White. Post Commander Kelsey said a building committee will be named soon.

The Carmel Post now awaits both National and State awards for piling up an enviable record in acquiring new members. The increase in membership is partially responsible for the changes in the Legion Hall, and if present plans reach fruition the hall may be kept open each night of the week, rather than only on meeting nights and special occasions.

DISCUSS GROVE TAXI CRUISING

When the Greyhound Bus pulls into Pacific Grove on Monday night, no one meets it. The passengers are marooned in the middle of nowhere. They must trundle bags quite a distance to reach a telephone and call a taxi. Why? Because taxicabs aren't allowed to "cruise."

The problem exists only on Monday night when the bus station is closed, but the city has had complaints. Last week, Councilman Pat Coleman wondered if the cruising ordinance shouldn't be repealed. On all sides, he was met with shaking heads. Councilman Mathews, police commissioner, said it would open the way to possible crime. Police Chief Ernest McAnaney said most cities had cruising ordinances. Mayor William McC. Chapman hesitated to tamper with the ordinance. Said Councilwoman Elmarie Dyke: "But it would be nice if those people could get a cab, all the same."

AUDUBON SOCIETY FIELD TRIP

The Audubon Society will conduct a field trip Saturday, covering the Pacific Grove shore line and the Asilomar beach area. Members and friends will meet at 9 a.m. at Hopkins Marine Museum. Weather permitting there will be a picnic lunch around noon.

Once Upon a Time

By Alexander Victor

Now that the SPECTATOR has published my infallible formula on how to boil a soft-boiled egg, I am not as mad any more. However, I'm medium mad. The people of the SPECTATOR office are nothing but a bunch of slave-drivers. Here I am in my study, settled down to nothing more than to watch the bees and the flowers and then, what happens. I will tell you. They telephone and want to know where is my column. They gang up on me. First, Fred calls me, then Bill calls me. In fact, anybody with a few minutes to spare, calls me. Everybody calls me except Mike's dog T.V. I'm beginning to believe he's the only gentleman in the place.

All right, dammit, here's my column.

For no other reason than to annoy Billy Rose, who was at one time the world's champion typist, then the world's greatest producer of extra-ganzas, and then, so help me, who turned out to be the most imaginative short-story writer in America, I had planned to write a short story that would put him to shame. I know he married the world's champion high diver. I have seen just as many dives as anyone I know of.

At any rate, this short story of mine is a sort of Hans Christian Andersen thing and has to do with a small boy and four battered tin soldiers. I haven't finished the story yet but when Henry Miller was here the other day I told him the story. I also said that I didn't think I had the skill to write it. And, God bless Henry Miller, he said, "Just write it as you tell it." So very reassuring from one of America's greatest writers.

One of these days I will write the story. In the meantime I have to write this column. Ever since I wrote my story in the December 15 issue of the SPECTATOR people have asked me questions about inventions and astronomy. I'll answer to the best of my ability. I am glad to answer but I do not know all of the answers. One question is, strange to say, which is the nearer, the sun or the moon. That shows what our educational system does to kids. The junk that is being taught should be thrown out and a few elementary facts should be substituted.

However, I will not take issue with anyone. I am retired and tired. Nevertheless, since there may be a number of people who have not asked me, let me put the answer this way. And because very few people have been in the habit of judging distances by Light Years, I will put it in such a way that anyone can grasp the problem. If you were to fire a bullet from a gun, and assuming that the bullet would maintain its velocity indefinitely, it would take about 220 hours to reach the moon. On the other hand, that same bullet would require eight years to reach the sun. And such is the Universe, my friends.

There is another question that many people ask me. Was the Victor dog of the "Master's Voice" a real dog. Yes, he was a real dog. His name was Nipper. He was a fox terrier and he was fond of fish and he lived 14 years. Anything else you want to know? I won't mind. I like a friendly voice over the telephone.

I am listed in the telephone book and available at most any hour. For two cents I'd publish Bing Crosby's private phone number, but I like the guy and that would be a dirty trick. The only result would be that he'd have his number changed.

Speaking of science and such trifles, we now have the new Einstein theory about gravitation and magnetism. It took him I forget how many years to formulate the theory. I've held to that theory since I was a small boy. But I suppose it's like the habit of attributing every witty remark to Dorothy Parker. Everything including the atomic bomb is attributed to Einstein. I like him and I know him personally, but I also know something about the splitting of an atom and the development of the silly thing, which was done experimentally and not by mathematics. I'm too tired to fight about it. I may say, however, that most of the credit should go to a couple of high school kids in the state of California, who invented the cyclotron.

I hope Einstein doesn't see this one.

ATTENTION PARENTS

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

ONE of the earliest nuisances for a mother to begin is to give the baby a toy while she feeds him. She discovers that with his attention on the toy he tends to relax the jaw and let her push the food into him. It seems to work so well that she will make it a ritual.

Some mothers play records, sing, tell or read stories to the child, or do all sorts of antics—Dad sometimes joining—in order to get the baby or young child to eat. Soon new stunts and longer ones grow necessary and they all fail finally. The same holds true for "Now take a sip of milk for Mommie, now one for Daddy, and one for Grandma."

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

Have you seen the new Bright-White lamp bulbs? They give out more light and it is satin-smooth white light that is soft and easy on the eyes.

You can always count on a silvered bowl lamp to give controlled light. Puts out a wide spread of light. The perfect lamp for indirect lighting.

Here is a handy Projector Floodlight that is ideal for illuminating dark walls or entrance steps. Easy to use. Has a standard base that fits any ordinary light socket.

Want to modernize your ceiling lighting? Put in these residential fluorescent fixtures. Ideal for use in kitchen, socks, bathrooms, workshops. Used widely in modern homes.

Here's something new in lamp bulbs that will take the harsh glare out of your old portable lamps. It's the new indirect-light bulb which gives you that soft diffusion of light you have always wanted. And you will get more light spread upward and downward for the comfort of your eyes and the beauty of your home. Check over the lamps in your home tonight. Replace dim and blackened lamps with bright new bulbs. Your eyes work hardest during these dark winter months. Give them the kind of light they need—Better Light for Better Sight.

All Saints Building Fund Now Totals $137,144.16

The contract for construction of the new All Saints' Church at Dolores and Ninth, Carmel, should be signed within the next few days, depending on approval of the bishop and standing committee of the diocese, and building will begin soon after, according to Captain Archer M. R. Allen, USN, (ret.), chairman of the building committee. Captain Allen made the announcement last week during a Parish dinner.

He stated that there was $79,856.66 in cash and securities in the building fund together with $7,287.50 in unpaid pledges. Captain Allen then disclosed that Mrs. George Hart, of Pebble Beach, is making a loan of $50,000 to the parish at four percent interest on a 20-year basis. This brings the building fund to $137,144.16. Estimated cost of construction is about $145,000.00, which leaves about $8,000 to be raised, in the coming year, he noted.

Captain Allen said the records revealed that almost 100 members of the congregation contributed toward the building fund.

CARMEL CRAFTS GUILD HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Carmel Crafts Guild held its annual meeting last week and elected officers and executive board for 1950. Francis Whitaker, Carmel blacksmith, president; Marian Brueck, of the Carmel Art Shop, vice president; E. M. Beecher, Carmel potter, treasurer; Sara Kistler, Carmel weaver, corresponding secretary and Doris Ormsby, Salinas block printer, recording secretary, were elected to office and Joseph Frame and Howell Armor, Carmel wood carvers, Glenn Minshall, Monterey potter, Thornton Carswell, Carmel screen printer and weaver, complete the executive board.

The following committee was appointed to guide the guild's activities for work on the acquisition by Carmel of the river mouth beach property: Frances Whitaker, Sara Kistler, Polly Carswell and Howell Armor.

Plans for the year include crafts exhibit and crafts in action for the King City Fair, the construction of a crafts' building in the Monterey County Fairgrounds and a block printing exhibit from Folly Cove, printers from Cape Cod, at the Ermelen Handcraft studio in Carmel.

It was announced that the February meeting will be a social get-together.

CARMEL VALLEY

Doin' An' Stuff

Dear Boys and Girls:

The most irritating section of our valley road had nothing to do with the three fronts mentioned last week. This piece was a small section of wash-board mud which had us all howling and growling. The Business and Professional Association under the leadership of Leo Tanous called A. B. Jacobson, chairman of the County Supervisors, to protest, and the very next day a scraper was sent over to level the surface. The dispatch with which this several week old nuisance was alleviated makes one believe in the adage "It's the squeakiest wheel which gets the most attention," rather than the more gentle philosophy of "grin and bear it."

Several more thousand dollars have been shaved from the plans for the Tularcitos School. M. Clough was chosen from among several applicants as inspector for this building program.

The valley bus has broken down, but everyone is happy being transported by a limousine.

Inspection by the Tularcitos Fire Company started Saturday in earnest. A white sheet of paper with detailed instructions of what fire hazards to clean up was left at many homes. A 30 to 40 day limit was extended to allow residents time to carry out orders. If, after a recheck, conditions have not been taken care of, a final five to ten day warning will be given, and if this is ignored, then the fire company will come, do the job, and is empowered to add the bill to the county taxes. Arrangements for the removal of brush and debris can be made through your local trash dealer.

Two of the three Tularcitos fire commissioners will be coming up for reelection this spring, Chester Phillips appointed to finish the term of Norman Marshall who left the valley, and Milton Cantor, are the men whose terms expire. Petitions to run must be filed by April 1.

Our year old post office has grown so rapidly that it will soon become a second class office, which will mean a great many more advantages for us.

Two pages of Sunday's Chronicle were devoted to a weekending valley-ite, Colin Self, nephew of the Alvin Beyers, the valley's only druggist. Mr. Self, a modern Pied Piper, sells canned music by Muzak to factories, stores, hospitals, offices and even faculty clubs of such institutions of higher learning as the University of California, where evidently, the need to relax is just as great as it is anywhere else. Mr. Self feels that television may well crowd radios from private homes and that music by Muzak will be only too happy to fill the vacant spot.

Chinese Dinner at the Bobs' Carousel was a howling oriental success - with many locals and visitors appearing in costume.

Ever since THE SPECTATOR'S front piece of Fishing in Carmel River was published, the river has been doing its "dumdest" to come up to scratch. The waters are swirling and increasing in such a satisfactory fashion that several anglers were seen Sunday, but the results have not been advertised. There was boating on Porters' Lake, enjoyed by Skipper Marquard and his guests, the Stanton boys.

Coming back to the valley after a trip to the Big Sur is like returning to one's warm, familiar, well turned bed after a hard day at the races. The countryside along the coast is so vast and overwhelmingly beautiful that the valley seems doubly sweet and comforting in its smallness.

The Carmel Valley Property Owners Association met last week to elect new officers and to listen to General Ernest Dawley outline a fire prevention program for the Tularcitos district, which embraces fire breaks, individual clean-ups and additional river crossings in single road areas.

Four new members of the Business and Professional Association were voted in at last week's meeting.... Bob Robinson and Bob Mills, of The Carousel, Mr. Grace, of Carmel Valley Hardware, and Earl James, of the Valley Service Station. After the business meeting, movies of members were shown and also an interesting short of scenes from a hunting trip Herb Brownell took last fall in British Columbia.

In two days, over 100 signatures were obtained for a petition asking that the Tularcitos Union District and Cotermine High School Districts be allowed to join the Carmel Unified School District.

There is still water in the pool at the Rancho Del Monte Country Club, and if the weather keeps I'll join those hardy souls who braved the beautiful but cold blue last Sunday.

The Carmel Valley Art Gallery has an interesting show this month of the best representational artists in the region. There is one abstract by Maxine Albro, whose sophisticated primitives attract and please the eye immediately upon entering the gallery. There will be a new show the first Saturday in February.

VALLEY PROPERTY OWNERS ELECT 1950 OFFICERS

Members of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association elected Maj. Gen. Ernest J. Dawley president for the coming year during the annual meeting last week. Other new officers are Mrs. Horace W. Ayers, first vice president; Leonard G. Williams, second vice president; Mrs. Grant Risdon, secretary, and Mrs. Windham Medcraft, treasurer.

On the board of directors is William Wood, Mrs. Alex Dobie, E. J. Hergenhan, Mrs. Frank Andrews, John K. Caldwell, Claude C. Hicks, David Hoisington, Paul F. Porter and Wendell Redding. Members of the nominating committee are Mr. Wood, Mrs. Dobie, Frank Andrews, Sam Brandt and G. Faunce Whitcomb.

HERALD RECEIVES TWO FIRST AWARDS

Monterey Peninsula Herald won two first place awards at the annual convention of the California Newspaper Publishers Association last week in Coronado. The newspaper received the Wall Street Journal Trophy for the best front page among the dailies and also won the Mergenthaler Linotype award for the best special edition. The Salinas Californian took second place for the best front page.

The Herald's 136 page Centennial edition, which was published on Aug. 27, 1949, received the special editions first place award, while the front page award was chosen from several regular editions.

Discerning Discs

By Henry Dunakin

Dietrich Buxtehude, the immediate predecessor of J. S. Bach, has always been neglected by recording companies. To be sure, the great Bach has kept such strong foothold that Buxtehude hardly stands as much more than a name in history books. It is good to note that two re-instatements from his pen are again available: 1 - the "Prelude and Fugue in G Minor for Organ" is exemplary of some of that instrument's finest literature. Finn Videro, soloist, gives a lucid performance that has been impeccably recorded by Danish HMV and released to us through the British affiliate. 2 - "Sonata for Two Violins, 'Cellos, and Harpsichord" (HMV) is light in texture. While built in the harmonic manner, it is nonetheless not too removed from the early Baroque, and its total effect is quite pleasing. Highly recommended for chamber enthusiasts! The Cantata "Send Hid Din Engel" is a new release (English Col.), sung by the Copenhagen Boys' Choir, with a minimum of instrumental accompaniment. The vocal ensemble is remarkably clear, and the composition's structure has a Gothic solidity seldom found in works of such small instrumentation.

PERGOLESI

The current revival of interest in music of Pergolesi is unearthing many fine works that have been lying asleep somewhere for much too long. His "Concerto for Flute and Orchestra" comes to us on Italian HMV. Gustave Scheck, flutist, carries on what amounts to a concertante with an unnamed bassoonist, while the larger support is provided by the Chamber Orchestra of Scheck and Winzinger! The odd side of this two-disc set is a Sarabande by Bach, arranged for flute and orchestra, and features the same artists. Fine work, and the pressing is better than many by this company.

Mozart singles have been released in abundance, and with a startling lack of publicity when one hears how beautiful these little pieces are! Heading the list is a domestic Victor, "Et Incarnatus Est," from the C Minor Mass, k. 427. It is sung by Erna Berger, who made her American debut this fall with the Metropolitan Opera Company's presentation of "Der Rosenkavalier." Miss Berger is also represented with "Martyrs Are All Kinds" from the Escape from the Seraglio (HMV). Better keep an ear toward this voice; it's going to make history and fast. It has a purity likened unto Elizabeth Schumann's and all the freshness of youth. Josef Krips leads the Philharmonic Orchestra through both of these performances with gentle and noble support.

Mozart's "Masonic Funeral Music," k. 477, released some months back on English Columbia, has recently been made available on domestic. This composition foreshadows many well-known works of Beethoven's, notably, arias from "Fidelio." The Vienna Philharmonic is led by the understanding baton of Herbert von Karajan.

Spring Fashion

Black wool suit dress.

By VERA WINSTON

BLACK WOOL, very sheer and lightweight is used for a suit dress, nice for wear under a coat now, and destined to blossom forth on its own later on. Candy striped taffeta makes the blouse top, its bow-tied midriff showing at the waist below the short bolero jacket. Two square self-covered buttons fasten the little jacket which is lined with the blouse-top fabric. The dress, despite its blouse and skirt look, is a one-piece model and has a plain neckline and short sleeves. The striped taffeta collar and cuffs are optional, since they are smartly detachable. A suit dress of this type is one of the earliest of the new Spring trends and will be available in various price ranges.

As if in answer to last week's SPECTATOR cover picture, which showed a fisherman wading in real water up in the Carmel River, this photo, taken Sunday, shows that necessary substance again filling the river bed 12 miles up the valley. Valleyites along this stretch had not seen water in the river since last Spring. Polaroid One-Minute Photo.

50 G's For River Beach

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors in the Monday session at Salinas decided to go ahead with plans for the purchase of the beach area below the mouth of the Carmel River. The county will contribute $25,000 for the acquisition, while the state will put up a like amount.

A. B. Jacobsen, chairman of the county board, said the State of California will take care of the actual purchasing of the beach, but that the county will be responsible for its upkeep, once acquired.

Only fly in the ointment was the fact that J. C. Burnette, of Los Altos, representing owners of the property, said this week that the state's appraisal of $50,000 was too low and that they would not sell at that price.

Mr. Burnette told the SPECTATOR Tuesday that the federal government, back in 1933, appraised the property at more than $50,000.

"Obviously, the property is worth more than that now," he commented.

Nevertheless, the situation still looked good to members of the Point Lobos League in Carmel. Several months ago the organization began soliciting private donations for eventual purchase of the area. With surprisingly little fanfare they talked other organizations into joining the fight for the preservation of the beach.

At the weekend, the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society joined in, "strongly endorsing efforts to buy the Carmel River lagoon area and beach south to San Jose Creek for use as a state park." The society voted to donate their share from the next three screen tours for this purpose.

It was further decided to donate $75 from society funds to the Lobos League to assist in the expense of mailing information pamphlets and other efforts to bring the project to the attention of the public. To lend maximum support a committee was appointed for the purpose of raising funds from the membership. This committee consists of Captain R. P. Parsons, Rear-Admiral Andrew C. Bennett and Mrs. Grace Selzer. J. B. Speller, of Pebble Beach, was designated as Audubon representative to work with the Lobos League.

CARMELITE NAMED HEAD of BOY SCOUT COUNCIL

Edward M. Seifert, of Carmel, was elected president of the local Monterey Bay Area Boy Scout council, replacing Don Gilchrist, of Gonzales, who held the office for the past two years, at their seventeenth annual meeting held Saturday at the officers' club, U.S. Naval School, Monterey. The territory headed by President Seifert includes Monterey, San Benito and Santa Cruz counties.

Other officers elected were R. L. Hayden, of Santa Cruz, vice-president; Fran Petersen, of Chualar, commissioner, and Guy J. Pedroni, of Salinas, re-elected for the sixteenth consecutive year as treasurer. Representatives to the national council of the Boy Scouts of America will be Albert M. Lester, of Carmel; Harold Holgerson, Watsonville, and Fred Walti, Santa Cruz.

Executive board members from Monterey Peninsula who will administer the council during the coming year are D. R. Jeffers, E. M. Seifert, A. M. Lester, J. F. Martin, S. L. Gilmer, Jack Dougherty, H. W. Powers, F. E. Grant-ham and O. W. Irwin.

Honorary membership was again conferred on Dr. H. G. Watters, of Watsonville, and George C. Taylor, of Salinas, both of whom had served boyhood through scouting for many years.

Inactive associate memberships were given to Carmel Martin, M. T. McKeon, Rev. F. J. Franchi, R. E. Glikberg, R. W. Cryder, L. Constantine, J. V. Pettitt, F. G. Tiffany, Judge M. T. Dooling, Harry M. Parker, Bert B. Snyder and Hugh F. Walti.

Council nominating committee consisted of O. W. Irwin, Carmel, chairman; Don Gilchrist, Gonzales, Frank Heiner, Hollister, and Col. John C. Cook, Santa Cruz.

CARMEL GETS DIAL SYSTEM MARCH 12

A dial telephone system for Carmel will go into effect at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, March 12, according to D. D. Muir, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Monterey. The switch to a dial system in Carmel will complete a direct dial system all over the Monterey Peninsula and Carmel Valley.

Mr. Muir said telephone users will be informed of their new numbers far enough ahead of time to allow them to reprint their stationery and business cards.
